All ramps to open on July 2 at Woodburn Interchange
Traffic to be in final configuration as project nears completion

WOODBURN – The contractor working for the Oregon Department of Transportation will open all ramps at the Woodburn Interchange starting at 6 a.m. on Thursday, July 2. At that time all traffic will be moving in the final configuration as the project nears completion.

The contractor has finished the final top lift paving and most of the durable striping has been applied. However, the sign bridges will not be installed until later this summer.

Travelers should still proceed with caution through the construction zone and observe the temporary signage. With the ramps completed, travelers will no longer be making any left turns to get on Interstate 5. Variable message signs will be posted to direct travelers to the just opened ramps to I-5.

In addition to completing the permanent striping and sign bridges, there is still work left on the project including completion of the I-5 sound wall, the bridge “gateway” design elements, illumination, signals and landscaping. The project is almost one year ahead of schedule and expected to be completed by late summer.
